It Was His Wife.

A noted music teacher in New York City relates the following incident, which contains a moral worth recognition by wives:

A year ago last fall a card was brought into my music-room bearing the name of a well known and fashionable married lady. When she was ushered in I was surprised to see so young a looking woman, though, to be sure, she is not yet forty, and a fair complexion and clear blue eyes made her look younger. She seemed a little embarrassed, but asked me to try her voice. I did so, and found it uncultivated, but was singularly fresh and sweet; in quality a light soprano. I told her so, and her face flushed eagerly as she asked:

"Professor, could you teach me to sing?" "Yes," I replied, "if you choose to apply yourself earnestly."

"I will; and if you can manage it so that I need not be seen, and that no one knows of it, I will take a lesson every day." We made the best arrangements we could and the lady never failed to appear promptly at the hour. She was anxious and so persevering that she made the most extraordinary progress, and when spring came, her voice had no strengthened and developed as to be almost beyond recognition.

During the summer I heard nothing of her beyond mention in the society papers of her being at Saratoga, but about a month ago she called upon me, and taking both my hands in hers, she shook them earnestly, as she said:

"Professor, I have come to thank you for making me the happiest woman alive." She then told me that her husband, to whom she was deeply attached, was passionately fond of vocal music, and had always regretted that she could not sing to him.

She had never cultivated her voice before marriage, and afterward the coming of children and the claims of society had prevented her attempting it; but the unlucky day came when Mr. A—, made the acquaintance of a charming widow with a charming voice, who was always ready and willing to sing sweet songs to him, and he gradually fell into the way of spending many of his evenings with her.

At heart devoted to his wife, he was unconscious of his gradual neglect of her and would have been astonished had she resented his enjoyment of these musical tete-a-tetes. About the widow I am not prepared to speak. Mrs. R—, like a nice woman, did not resent it, but undermined the enemy, as you will see. Her music lessons she kept a profound secret from her family. In the summer they went, as usual, to Saratoga, and took possession of one of the pretty cottages, at the United States Hotel.

The morning after their arrival the local newspaper contained a notice that the leading soprano of the Episcopal Church was ill with a throat affection, and the congregation was asked to make due allowance for the disabled choir. The next morning (Sunday) Mr. R—, with two of the children, wended his way to the church of his belief, Mrs. R—, having excused herself on the plea of a headache.

After the opening service, the minister announced that a "a lady from New York had kindly volunteered to sing in the place of the sick soprano, and in consequence the musical service would be the same as usual."

A few moments later a clear, sweet voice rang through the church and touched the hearts of the people, perhaps, even more through the exquisite expression and feeling with which the music was rendered than the qualities of the voice itself. Mr. R—, was fascinated, delighted, and inwardly made comparisons between it and witching widow, not flattering to the latter. After the services were over he eagerly sought the minister to ascertain the name of the charming soprano, whose face he had not been able to see from his seat.

"Come with me and I will introduce," you said the minister, who knew Mr. R., by reputation. They entered the choir together, and the good man began: "Miss Brown, permit me to introduce"—when he was interrupted by Mr. R—, ejaculating: "Great heaven, it is my wife!" And, place and company notwithstanding, he gave her a hearty embrace in his delight and surprise. To cut the story short he fell in love with her all over again; the singing siren was forgotten, and I don't believe you could find a happier couple in New York.

A Few Parlor Games.

The games that follow are not all of them particularly new, but they are pleasant, and are quite worth trying: One player says: "Have you seen my cat?" The next replies: "Yes, I've seen your cat." "Do you know what my cat is doing?" "Yes, I know what you cat is doing." "Do it." And then it the player neglects to purr or scratch she pays a forfeit. Of course, that game may be varied considerably by choosing any other animal.

THE INTERRUPTED REPLY.—The company are seated in a circle, when one whispers to her right hand neighbor. Say that she asks: "Of what use is a book?" The answer would naturally be: "To read." But instead, she asks another question of her right hand friend, and when the question have gone around the last answer is given aloud—of course producing much laughter among the party.

PUZZLE MUSIC.—One player leaves the room, and the rest determine on something he must do on his return. Say he has to dance around the room to discover a hidden person, or to touch a particular object. When he enters he is informed by song or piano when he is near or far from his object; the singing or playing becoming louder or softer as he approaches or recedes from the solution. With little trouble this may be made a most amusing game. It is, in fact, but a moderation of old nursery frolic, "Hot Boiled Beans and Bacon."

THE TRAVELER.—The traveler leaves the room, and then the company determine on the country he is to visit, and prepare accordingly. Say he is to guess Germany, you have a student with a long pipe, a book and spectacles; Turkey, a lady in a turban, reclining on a sofa-cushion; Lapland, a tent with natives sitting around a fire. This may be made by a few chairs turned upside down and a table-cloth thrown over them, the natives wrapped in shawls, etc. The traveler comes in at a given signal, and must guess the country show or pay a forfeit.

THE KEY OF THE KING'S GARDEN.—The plan is for one to give a sentence: "I give you the key of the King's garden." The next person repeats the words with an addition: "I give you the string that holds the key of the King's garden. Then the third adds: "I give you the scissors to cut the string that holds the key of the King's garden." A fourth: "I give you a patent file to sharpen the scissors to cut the string that holds the key of the King's garden." A fifth: "I give you a box to hold the patent file to sharpen the scissors to cut the string that holds the key of the King's garden," and so on till one player fails and pays forfeit.

THE SECRET THAT TRAVELS.—A game of the simplest character, but which among young people will often be found to afford genuine genuine amusement. It has its advantage—that any child can join in it without having previously possessed a knowledge of the pastime. The players sit around a table; or at least dispose themselves in a circle. One player starts the game by whispering a sentence in the ear of the player on the right hand. This sentence is the secret. The player, to whom the secret has been confided, tells it to his right-hand neighbor, and so on, to all the table circle. The last player repeats aloud the sentence as he understands it, and then the first player gives out the sentence in its original form. As a general rule, it will be found that in passing from one to another, the words have been so altered as to be almost unrecognizable.

DAILY EVENING BULLETIN.

SATURDAY EVE., MARCH 4, 1882.

The war on temperance in Henry county is becoming popular and aggressive.

Owing to the crop failure, nearly one hundred Spencer-county families are in a starving condition.

The court martial of Sergeant Mason at Washington has ended, but the finding has not yet been made public.

During the recent flood Green river has been within five feet of the '67 rise. Several towns in McLean county have been completely inundated.

The Disappointed Office Seeker's Party, that endeavored to organize at Louisville a few days ago, for the purpose of reforming the Democratic party in Kentucky has captured a valiant recruit in the person of the editor of the Maysville republican. His experience as a reformer will, no doubt, be of vast service to his new friends.

The Republicans are giving the cold shoulder to the McHenry party. A largely attended meeting was held at Louisville, Thursday, and resolutions were adopted condemning the proposed coalition with the disappointed Democratic office seekers. It was decided to support a straight Republican nomination for Clerk of the Court of Appeals.

A committee of the Kentucky Legislature is investigating the charges of inhuman treatment of state convicts on the Big Sandy Railroad. It has been pretty well established that they have been fed on the worst kind of food and several have died from the severe punishment inflicted, because of their inability to work while sick. The investigation should be a thorough one and the responsible parties, if guilty, made to answer for their cruelty and inhumanity.

This year will be an important one from a political standpoint. There is an entirely new House of Representatives to be chosen, with thirty-two additional members. Besides this, the following nineteen states elect governors and state officers: Alabama, Arkansas, California, Colorado, Connecticut, Delaware, Kansas, Kentucky, Maine, Massachusetts, Michigan, Nebraska, Nevada, New Hampshire, New York, Pennsylvania, South Carolina, Tennessee and Texas. The legislatures to be chosen will elect one-third of the next Senate of the United States.

The testimony of Ex-Custodian Pitney given before the committee on investigation of the expenditures of the contingent fund of the Treasury, and which was suppressed by Secretary Windom, is at last laid before the public, and makes a very interesting story. It shows that Mr. Sherman's "Presidential Headquarters" at Washington, were furnished while he was the Secretary of the Treasury at the government's expense, and that lemonades, lunches, serenades, etc, were paid for in the same way. A large quantity of stationery used by the committee representing Mr. Sherman's interest, was charged to the government as official file-holders and paid for with public money. When the investigation began, and Pitney and his accomplices found themselves pushed to the wall on account of these stealings, they paid back into the Treasury the greater part of the money, two hundred and fifty dollars of which was furnished by Mr. Sherman himself. Pitney in his testimony relates an interview with Honest John concerning the matter that is highly entertaining.

Dr. Frazier's Root Bitters.

Frazier's Root Bitters are not a dram-shop whisky beverage, but are strictly medicinal in every sense. They act strongly upon the liver and kidneys, keep the bowels open and regular, make the weak strong, heal the lungs, build up the nerves and cleanse the blood and system of every impurity.

For dizziness, rush of blood to the head tending to apoplexy, dyspepsia, fever and ague, dropsy, pimples and blotches, scrofulous humors and sores, tetter, ring worm, white swelling, erysipelas, sore eyes and for young men suffering from weakness or debility caused from imprudence, and to females in delicate health, Frazier's Root Bitters are especially recommended.

Dr. Frazier: I have used two bottles of your Root Bitters for dyspepsia, dizziness, weakness and kidney disease, and they did me more good than the doctors and all the medicine I ever used. From the first dose I took I began to mend, and I am now in perfect health, and feel as well as I ever did. I consider your medicine one of the greatest blessings.

PILES! PILES! PILES!

A Sure Cure Found at Last—No One Need Suffer!

A sure cure for blind, bleeding, itching and ulcerated piles has been discovered by Dr. Williams (an Indian remedy,) called Dr. Williams' Indian Ointment. A single box has cured the worst chronic cases of twenty-five or thirty years standing. No one need suffer five minutes after applying this wonderful soothing medicine. Lotions, instruments and electricities do more harm than good. Williams' Ointment absorbs the tumors, allays the intense itching, (particularly at night after getting warm in bed,) acts as a poultice, gives instant and painless relief, and is prepared only for piles, itching of the private parts, and nothing else.

Read what the Hon. J. M. Coffaberry, of Cleveland, says about Dr. Williams' Pile Ointment: I have used scores of pile cures, and it affords me pleasure to say that I have never found anything which gave me such immediate and permanent relief as Dr. Williams' Indian Ointment.

SATURDAY EVE., MARCH 4, 1882.

THE troop of flyers, just arrived,
And working at the truck,
Are surely beauties, one and all,
The pride of Horseman Jack.
Who beats them in the May day dash,
When Nature's face is bright'ning.
Will have to make arrangements sure,
To start a streak of lightning.

REMEMBER Heath & McIntyre's Mammoth Southern Minstrels at the opera House next Thursday evening.

MR. W. L. MORAN, bought a day or two ago, of Mr. John Gabbie, of Lewisburg, a fine Cockspur stallion, for $200.

"FLORINEL," in which Miss Julia A. Hunt takes the leading role, will be produced here under the personal supervision of the author.

THE DAILY BULLETIN of Monday will contain the monthly report of the standing and deportment of the pupils of the public schools of Aberdeen.

A DESPATCH received this morning from Mr. W. B. Phister, at Parkersburg, West Va., announces that his brother, Dr. Morris Phister, is much better.

MR. W. D. HIXSON, Secretary of the Historical Society, is organizing an exhibition to be given shortly, the proceeds of which will be used for furnishing the library room.

THE report in circulation that Deputy Marshal W. B. Dawson picked up a gold ring on the street and failed to make an effort to return it to the owner, does injustice to that gentleman, as the report is untrue.

FRANK LINN, a youth about sixteen years of age, attending school at Logan's Gap, below Aberdeen, dropped dead on Thursday. He had been at school all day and was suffering with a hemorrhage of the nose, which could not be stopped and resulted fatally as stated.

MISS JULIA A. HUNT has an entire new company, selected from the best New York theatres, amongst them such well-known actors and actresses as Mr. C. S. Dickson, Samuel Reed, B. W. Turner, Selden Irwin, Miss Fannie Francis, Florence Vincent, Genevieve Morris, Marie Irwin and others.

THE ladies of East Maysville and the vicinity will give a supper and rag-ball party on Friday evening, the 10th inst., at Amazon Hall for the purpose of raising money to finish the Methodist Church. The East End Reed and Cornet Band will furnish the music. The public is invited to aid this worthy movement.

THIS morning about eleven o'clock the gas generator of a soda water machine at C. W. Bierley's confectionery, on Second street, exploded with great violence. A part of the machine was driven through the roof of the building and another piece of it into the floor. Frank Ross, colored, who was operating the apparatus, was severely burned in the face and eyes but fortunately not seriously.

MESSRS. GEORGE COX & SON have just received the largest and handsomest stock of carpets of all qualities ever exhibited in this city. The stock embraces all the latest and most attractive designs in velvet, body Brussels, two and three-ply and the cheaper grades. These carpets are bought directly from the manufacturers for cash and will be sold as low as the same qualities can be bought at Cincinnati or anywhere else in the United States. The stock is certainly very handsome and has been selected with the best taste.

Distinguished Arrivals.

Mr. Jack Hook, the veteran turfman arrived yesterday, and is now at the Maysville Trotting Park, with his stable of seven trotters. Among them is the famous Leontine who has a record of 2:24 and Cyclone who has scored 2:26. All of these animals are in the finest condition and at the May meeting of the Club are sure to be favorably heard from, and Jack will make some of them think they are trotting when they tackle him on the home-stretch.

There will be from fifty to sixty horses on the course within the next two weeks. Mr. Bashford will arrive in a few days with his stable of ten or more fine horses, and among them London who has a record of 2:24.

The prospects for a successful meeting are highly encouraging and it is more than likely it will be an event that will create a sensation in turf annals. Our citizens should aid in every way possible to make the meeting the grand success it now promises to be.

All that was Promised.

It is about four weeks since the Queen City Brewery of Foss & Schneider came before the public with a product of the very choicest and most expensive material under the name of "Nonpareil" Export Lager. Indeed, this firm claimed when they stated their beer to be "Nonpareil," which as Webster says, means "having no equal."

Of course, as usual the first day this beverage made its appearance everybody tried it; but how great ought not the satisfaction be to Foss & Schneider, and justly can they be proud of it, that ever since the first day without interruption, order after order is received, and everybody wants Foss & Schneider's "Nonpareil" Export Lager, which is the best acknowledgment this enterprising firm could receive from the public, and flattering indeed it is to hear. "Nonpareil" Export Lager cannot be esteemed too high.

Sales of Land.

The following changes in the ownership of land have been recorded at the office of the Clerk of the County Court since our last report:

Julius Martin and wife to James Breeze one hundred and twelve acres of land, near Germantown, consideration, $5,576 50.
James S. Clarke and wife to Isaac Manley, fifty-six acres of land, on Absalom Creek, consideration, $6,100.
Annie E. White and husband to William Huff, seventeen acres three rods and twelve poles of land, known as Edgewood, on the Lexington pike, consideration, $7,500.
John T. Allison and others and Michael Burke, 15 acres of land on Absalom Creek; consideration, $1,600.
Joshua Owens to John T. Allison and others, 54 acres, 2 rods and 7 poles of land in Sardis precinct; consideration, $3,800.
Harrison Hawely to John Hyes, a tract of land on Jersey Ridge; consideration, $7,387.85.

THE Neptune Hose Company has adopted the following signals. The whistle referred to is similar to that used by the police in the large cities and can be heard for a mile or more:

One blow of the whistle calls Reel No. 1—Lady of Lake.
Two blows calls Reel No. 2—Uncle Bob.
Three blows calls Reel No. 3—H. L. Newell.
After giving your number, a short pause should be taken before calling for or shutting off water.
One blow of the whistle after the number of Reel is given turns water on slowly.
Two blows after number of reel is given turns water off slowly.
Three blows after number of reel is given shuts water off entirely.

ABERDEEN ITEMS.

Superintendent McFarland and family spent to-day at the residence of Mr. Julius Lord.

As we were coming from school Friday evening, we saw Miss Rilea driving past with Miss DeVore. A gentleman said who was that man with Miss DeVore? I told him who she was and he wanted to bet $10 it was not a woman. Some people see through a glass darkly.

Some of our boys became a little "how come you so" the other evening and the next day, they paid their respects to the mayor, to the tune of several dollars toward the support of our common schools.

PUBLIC SALE.

As executor of James P. Wilson, deceased, I will offer at public auction, his late desirable home situated in the town of Minerva, Mason county, Ky., on Saturday, March 11.

This consists of a large two-story frame house and about five acres of No. 1 ground. On this is a good barn, good well of water, two good cisterns and a splendid orchard. This is a very desirable property to any one desiring to live in a quiet and retired place, while its close proximity to the town makes it easily accessible. There are in Minerva two good schools and several churches, and in fact every advantage that could be desired in a thriving country town. Any one wishing to examine property can call upon R. L. Wilson, Minerva, Ky. Terms made known on day of sale. Sale to commence at 11 o'clock a. m. Possession given immediately. For further particulars call upon or address the undersigned at Maysville, Ky. George C. Goggin, Auctioneer. m2-2tw JOSIAH WILSON.

NEW MARBLE YARD.

WE respectfully announce to the public that we have opened a marble yard on Second street, above Yancey & Alexander's stable, and are prepared to furnish Monuments, Tomb Stones, Freestone, Pavements, and building work of all kinds, promptly on short notice. mar10-ly COOK & CLARK.

Facing Things.

Half of the wretchedness of life might be spared if men would learn to look things square in the face. It is the undefined possibilities of evil or suffering that rack the nerves and cause sleepless nights. The dread of going to the dentist is oftentimes more complete and torturing anguish than the real process of the operation. Men in business have not the courage to examine their accounts, and they go on trusting that things will come out right in the end; but at the same time they are haunted by forebodings which they have not the courage to put to the test. If ever the crash comes and they lose all, it is apt to be a relief; and the reality, though much worse than the prospect had seemed, is more easily borne than the nameless horror which might strike here or there at one time or another. It is even more noticeable in little things, in the small affairs of life, which, after all, go to make up life. You attend a country funeral and some incongruous detail in the solemnities makes assault upon your risibles: if you look squarely at the men and women around you or fix your eyes straight upon the minister or even the undertaker, your diaphragm will come to your aid, and your face will no more betray the workings of the wheels within than that of the immovable old tall-clock ticking in the corner; but if you cover your face with your hands or try to smother your laugh with averted face, each instant the enemy grows more provocative and ten chances to one you cloak yourself with eternal shame.

The unhappy lodger in a room unprovided with nettings goes to bed with the hope of sleeping the sleep of the just; but no sooner does the ivory gates begin to open than the scream of the August mosquito is heard. Two courses of action are open—wait nervously for the approaching fiend, and strike aimlessly in the dark, spending precious energy in vain, or face the fact that the little life-blood which your enemy will drain is of no consequence, shut your eyelids and let the world wag as it will; the mosquito will soon satisfy his craving for gore and depart to sting no more.

And so it is with everything. No human being need ever be borne to the ground by Fate, if he can teach himself the philosophy of facing her boldly, and having found out the worst she had in store, made up his mind to endure bravely what ever might come.

Great Men in Undress.

Swift relieved his tense and tragic moods by harnessing his servant with cords—on one occasion he insisted on harnessing his learned and respectable friend Dr. Sheridan—and driving them up and down the stairs and through the rooms of his demure.

Peter the Great sought to unbend himself by being wheeled over the flower beds and neat parterres of his host's garden in a wheelbarrow, as poor Sir William Temple found to his cost. That accomplished diplomatist appears to have felt his chagrin at the failure of the Triple Alliance mere child's play to his feelings at beholding the Russian monarch riding roughshod over the priceless tulips of Moor Park.

Innocent III., probably the greatest Pontiff who ever sat on the throne of St. Peter, relieved his graver amusement of playing at nine-pins with the potentates of Europe by gossiping familiarly with an old monk on a seat at a fountain in the Vatican. He would listen for hours to the stories and point-less anecdotes with which his humble companion, who had traveled a great deal, regaled him.—Temple Bar.

ONE by one the beautiful legends of the world are fading into nonentities. It is now said that there is no race of tailed men in Borneo. Perhaps they didn't put the premium lists high enough, and the men wouldn't race.

If a two-wheeled vehicle is a bicycle, and a three-wheeled a tricycle, it does not follow that the one-wheeled is an icicle. It is a wheelbarrow.

MAINE papers complain that Boston candies are composed of "white earth" and glucose.

BATCHELDER'S Ventilated Egg Case.

Patented February 15, 1881.
Indispensable to Merchants Shippers
And Producers.

The outside frame of this carrier contains five trays, held in place by fasteners at end of case, as seen in cut. These Trays are constructed in reversible halves. The above cut shows one whole tray filled ready to be placed in case, each egg resting in its cardboard socket in such a manner as to be readily counted, candled, or transferred from tray to tray, or case to case, without rehandling.
For cold storage this case will store 60 dozen with racks made to receive the half trays, hence this is the cheapest storage case manufactured, saving largely in space.
The manner of holding the eggs on end prevents oscillation, adding, or breakage, and adds greatly to their freshness when carried long in storage. Size of 30 dozen No. 1 cases 25x12x14, weighs 20 pounds.

PRICES IN CHICAGO.
Shipper's No. 1, 30 doz. Case with Filler's complete 65 cents.
Farmer's No. 1, 18 doz. Case with Filler's complete 55 cents.
Cardboard Filler's for refilling 20 cents.
15 per cent. discount on lots of 100 cases.
Batchelder's Egg Tester, 1 string 6 doz. at once, saves to buyers many times its cost each season. Price $3.00.

By special arrangements made by the manufacturers of this case most Railroads will receive them as fourth class freight.
The 18 dozen case made especially for Farmers' use, sent to any address by express, with out mailing, with full directions for setting up, on receipt of 50 cents. Every Farmer and consumer should have one of these cases, it will save its cost every month. Agents wanted in every county. Address,
J. H. BATCHELDER,
(In ordering mention this paper.)
